

Press release 11th of September 2018 (For Immediate Release)

GAEU Consulting's clients Cellink and Klaria receives €4,5 Million from the Horizon 2020 SME Instrument Phase 2

In collaboration with GAEU Horizon 2020 Centre of Excellence

In the latest call for the phase 2 of the SME Instrument GAEU Consulting wrote two and was deeply involved in a third out of a total of five approved applications for Swedish innovation companies. GAEU's customers received a total of 6,9 million euro.

Dr. Erik Gatenholm, CEO, Cellink AB (Granted €2,45M):

"Collaborating with GAEU has been great! The team is very responsive, knowledgeable, and supportive. Their work and efforts will help us ensure long term success. A company to depend on."

Dr. Scott Boyer, CEO, Klaria AB (Granted €2M):

"Working with GAEU has provided the necessary structure and balance to our application. Their experience in emphasizing and bringing out the broader potential of our innovation and expressing that potential in clear text has been the most valuable part of our interaction. Navigation of the H2020 application process is complex, but with the help of GAEU, Klaria has been able to focus on bringing out key points in the broad potential of our innovation and critically, will aid in our presentation of our company in discussions with investors and shareholders outside of the context of H2020."
